

Closing private access before routing removes direct interface channels

Population membership inference

Input-output correspondence attack

